

University of California Nonresident Enrollment as a Proportion of Total Undergraduate Students Over Time

Nonresident enrollment remained a fairly constant percentage of undergraduate enrollment for many years; the proportion of nonresident students began to grow during the recent fiscal crisis.

